Did You Know? We Need Feedback

One of the ways we've discovered and used so many great books in the program is through feedback from our sites and families. Let us know what you think by posting a review on our website.

Post book reviews at:
raisingreaders.org/books

While you're there, read why we chose a particular book. The information might help you explain to parents why that book works so well for a particular age group.

Forms Link on Log-in Page

The Book List & Log and Report & Order form are always available at:
raisingreaders.org/getforms

Now we've made them even easier to access by adding a Program Forms button to the online reporting and ordering menu. Hint: Call us at 1-800-397-3263 to get started with online reporting and ordering.

Books We Recommend

Parents may ask for recommendations about additional books for their children — Raising Readers can help!

Suggest that parents visit the Parents & Families section of our website for Books We Recommend.

They can click on a category to explore books that Raising Readers recommends for all aspects of a child's growing years.

Parents can select categories, use a keyword search to narrow selections or select an age group. The database will return 10–15 books in most categories. We've recently updated the books in the database so parents will find fresh ideas.

Bright idea: The holiday season is coming up and books make great gifts. Parents can use the database to help select the perfect book for their child.

A Classic for 15-month Visit

Hooray for Fish has been a big hit for the 15-month visit. We're pleased to replace this fun book with the children's classic, Jamberry. Some parents may even recognize this book from their own childhood.

Book Info to Share with Parents

Children will delight in the silly sounds of this story as a bear and a boy make their way through Berryland. This book is especially appropriate for toddlers as they can move to the rhythm and act out the story as it is being read aloud. Active participation in reading creates a love of books.
